

Left Forum 2018: Towards a New Strategy for the Left

Panel: The Workers' Economy as Global Strategy: What Is It? Where Is It Going? How to Nurture It?

Since 2007, the Workers' Economy Network has brought together some 800 recuperated and self-managed enterprises, cooperatives, social economy organizations, and trade unions, as well as researchers - committed to self-management practices and to a new workers' economy.

Andres Ruggeri & Marcelo Vieta: "From Network to Movement"
Jesus Torres : "TRADOC Tire Factory & the Workers' Economy"
Armando Robles: "Workers' Economy & New Era Windows"
Micky Metts: "Communications & the Workers' Economy"
Alexander Buzgalin: "Worker Management in USSR & Today"
Stéphanie Guico: "A Workers' Economy on Unceded Land"
Sean Smith: "What Union Councils Can Learn from Worker-recuperations"
Peter Ranis: "Workers Challenging Capitalism"

Next major workers' economy event: 3rd North American regional "encuentro" of the Workers' Economy Network, Mexico City, Nov 8-10, 2018. Info: www.globaljusticecenter.org

John Jay College of Criminal Justice

899 10th Avenue betw 58th
& 59th Streets,
New York

Room: 1.117
Saturday, June 2nd
2:00 - 3:50pm

[https://www.leftforum.org/
events/workers-economy-
global-strategy-what-it-where-it-going-how-nurture-it](https://www.leftforum.org/events/workers-economy-global-strategy-what-it-where-it-going-how-nurture-it)